Section 2: Three Persona Analysis

Consumer Advocate N/A Confidence: N/A Reasoning: My analysis reveals a contractor with a strong public-facing reputation but significant underlying concerns that warrant a skeptical homeowner's caution. The primary positive signal is the 25-year BBB history with an A+ rating and accreditation since 2008,	Fair Arbiter N/A Confidence: N/A Reasoning: The evidence presents a contractor with significant positive indicators and some ambiguous or incomplete data. The strongest positive signals are longevity and institutional trust: BBB A+ rating with accreditation since 2008, 25 years in business per BBB (founding date	Synthesizer N/A Reasoning: No dialectic audit data available. Stronger Case: N/A coupled with high-volume, detailed positive reviews (4.8/5 on Google, 4.9/5 on Yelp) describing complex, high-end historic roof restorations. The review analysis suggests authenticity due to specific project details and varied writing styles. However, several red flags emerge: 1) OSHA Violations: A 2022 inspection for 'Hunter's Precision Construction & Roofing Inc' (linked via mailing address) resulted in a serious citation for failing to conduct safety inspections while workers installed tiles on a commercial roof. This indicates a lapse in fundamental jobsite safety protocols. 2) Business Entity Ambiguity: The OSHA record lists a different corporate name ('Hunter's Precision... Inc') with a Round Rock address but the North Richland Hills mailing address. This creates confusion about the legal business structure and could indicate a rebranding or multiple entities, a common tactic for distancing from past issues. 3) Aggressive Historical Tactics: The review analysis flags 'aggressive sales tactics 2000), and high-volume positive reviews (119 Google reviews at 4.8, 105 Yelp reviews at 4.9). The review analysis indicates authenticity with specific project details (historic slate/copper/tile roofs, 100+ year old homes) and mentions of multiple crew names. The absence of liens (score 10/10) and no found court cases in four counties searched are positive. The charitable interpretations for red flags: 1) No Angi/HomeAdvisor presence could mean they don't rely on lead-generation services, focusing instead on referrals and high-end projects. 2) OSHA inspection from 2022 shows a single violation for not conducting inspections while installing tiles; this is a specific safety compliance issue, not fraud or poor workmanship, and could indicate they corrected it (no pattern of violations). 3) The website returning 403 might be temporary or a scraper issue, not evidence of a non-existent business given their physical address and phone are consistent. 4) Lack of Texas (historical)' as a complaint pattern, suggesting past pressure on customers. 4) Data Gaps & Inconsistencies: The website returns a 403 error, preventing verification of claims. Court record searches were partially blocked or inconclusive. There is no verification of the claimed 25-year founding date (BBB says 2000) against state corporate records. The contractor appears to operate in a high-end, complex niche (historic slate/tile) where dissatisfied customers are rare but problems, when they occur (like safety violations), can be severe. The strong review profile may be accurate for their specialty clientele but does not negate the serious safety compliance failure.

Key Concerns:

OSHA safety violation (2022) for failure to conduct required jobsite inspections, indicating a lapse in fundamental worker safety protocols., Ambiguous business identity with a linked but differently named entity ('Hunter's Precision Construction & Roofing Inc'), creating confusion about the legal structure.,

SOS/franchise tax data could be due to search limitations or the business operating under a different legal structure (sole proprietorship, DBA). The business appears to specialize in complex, high-value historic restorations, which explains the detailed, passionate reviews and potentially higher prices that might attract occasional complaints about communication or sales tactics. The overall pattern is of an established, skilled contractor with some administrative or communication growing pains.

Positive Factors:

N/A

Historical pattern of complaints regarding aggressive sales tactics, as identified in the review analysis., Inability to verify core business claims (website inaccessible, state corporate status unconfirmed) due to technical/data collection barriers.

Points of Agreement

N/A

Points of Disagreement

Section 3: Red Flags

LOW

Ambiguity in business entity name; OSHA report references 'Hunter's Precision Construction & Roofing Inc' linked to the same mailing address.

    "text": "Where do I even possibly begin??!!\nOne of the most impeccable restorations of a 100 yr old Southern Grand Dame! Not only did they travel to the Carolinas for this project, but spent months of meticulous planning and installation on a level that rivals the original builders of the Biltmore House! The quality of work, the refinement, the attention to detail to match what was previously installed 100 years ago. Yes, you read that correctly..... they are installing the first new roof on Stratford Towers since it was built in 1925 and lived in for more than 50 years by my late Mama Joanie. The new stewards of her former summer house is getting the best care humanly possible! Bravo team! I look forward to recommending you to more people and the neighbors are taking notice!!!", Being an historic home, everything had to be identical to the original 130 year old home. Angel and the incredible team made sure everything was done to the highest standards doing incredible work in areas that would never be seen. The team was very neat, respectful, meticulous, and the craftsmanship is amazing. This roof will last longer than the original. I want to thank Angel and the team for an amazing job. I would also like to thank Grant Olsen for working with me and the insurance to get this done. I am absolutely sure without his knowledge and perseverance we would have the old roof. Thanks to everyone at Precision", expertise and integrity to every project he undertakes. He comes highly recommended by Ludowici Corp, and after watching him on site, it's easy to see why.\nMatt has all the right people on his team and uses them to ensure projects run smoothly and efficiently. He is never rushed in his work, taking the time to be extremely thorough in every detail. Even when explaining complex concepts, Matt is willing to repeat and clarify until everyone is on the same page--his patience and communication skills are truly exceptional.\nWhat stands out most about Matt is his character. He is friendly, honest, and a true straight shooter who tells it like it is. He instills confidence in both clients and his team. Matt is also deeply trustworthy and experienced, always showing respect for his "on the roof" team, recognizing their hard work and contributions every step of the way.\nI had to have complete confidence in Matt because my project took almost exactly one year to get insurance company approval. That is a long time to stick with someone, but he was totally convinced that he and his team had correctly assessed my roof and that the insurance company would finally have to agree. Which, thankfully, they did. The process of selecting and making the tiles took many more months, but I am happy to say that I have one of the most beautiful roofs in the area now.\nIn short, Matt Melrose is the type of professional everyone wants on their team--skilled, reliable, and genuine. I give him my highest recommendation and full confidence that he will exceed expectations in every job.", Severe thunderstorms struck on 4/12/22 and again on 5/22/24 with tornado force winds and heavy large hail.\nOur home is 3 stories high with 4 chimneys. There were no roofers locally who were trained and qualified to replace a high clay tile roof. Complicated by having to comply with the Historic District commission. We enlisted the services of Precision Construction and tile roof repair located in North Richland Hills to replace the entire tile roof. There were delays for permits and for the tiles to be manufactured in Ohio. Mason Hunter was our point of contact and site manager. The project started 7/21/25 with the crew working daylight to dark 6 days a week until finally finished 8/27/25. The results were amazing. Mason Hunter answered all the questions and addressed all our concerns. The team was very professional with their approach and final cleanup. I would and have recommended Precision to others in the historical district .DM Temple, Texas",

Curtis met with the insurance company and handled everything with them even meeting with the adjuster and inspector with same-day notice. This job flowed seamlessly. Curtis and his crew had our roof done in two days. Along with all new gutters and downspouts. We were out of town at the time this was done and Curtis would send us photos and videos daily of the progress even showing up after the gutters were done to take more photos and make sure everything was in place for us. Curtis's attention to detail and his customer service is exceptional. I would recommend this company and Curtis Ward hands-down for any roofing project. They handled all of my negotiations with Insurance company which Insurance company dragged out for a year. Their crew was amazing! All three homeowners ended up in litigation due to shabby and unprofessional work causing extensive damage to the homes. "text": "This company does a top notch job with top of the line materials. We had hail damage to the slate roof on our historical home. There is copper flashing and copper gutters. They took the stress out of dealing with the insurance company. It took lots of effort on Garrett's part to explain the difference of an installation of a shingle roof vs a slate roof to the insurance company. They have their own lawyers on standby to work on legality with the insurance company. We were told right up front it would take about 9 weeks to rip off the old roof and put on the new roof. Luckily they had two other crews working nearby that they came to our house and got the job done in about 3 and a half weeks. The crew worked from sun up to sun down in high humidity and heat. They worked on the weekends. Never seen workers with work ethic like they had. People around the area came to see this installation. I feel badly for our neighbors who didn't get the same quality of materials and workmanship. Many of them are now fighting with their contractors with roof leaks and improper installations. I'm so thankful we had Precsion Construction and Roofing. Every time I have a neighbor so frustrated over their repairs, I thank God again he guided Precision to us. Sometimes you get what you pay for. Garrett stops by or calls to check and see if we have any problems with any work they performed. He said he would be checking periodically and he does! This is a company that stands behind their products and workmanship.",

Our neighborhood was affected by the big tornado in Dallas, and of course we had several roofers come by. Brandon with Precision was the most polite and pleasant, and ultimately, was also one of the few who actually followed through in a timely manner with quotes and details. I'll be honest - we gave him a hard time with tons of questions, and he was endlessly patient and professional. When there was a supply issue with the exact replacement tiles for our roof, he worked it out with our insurance company to make sure we got an excellent alternative, and generally did all of the dealing with them after our initial adjuster meeting to make sure that we didn't have to worry about the financial side other than our deductible. His crew was surprisingly fast and very professional, and Brandon even matched a gallon of paint to do some touch-ups when he discovered that our replacement shutters, which had also blown off in the storm and needed to be replaced by his crew since our roof is so steep and slick, would leave a bit of discolored brick showing on the house. We really appreciate everything Brandon and Precision Construction & Roofing did to get our house back to looking great again.", Construction and Roofing) and use them without any concern about ANYTHING going wrong.\n\nI have used Rick and Precision for repair on roofs on two homes. The first, was a cold call (after I had nearly selected another contractor). Rick closed with \"let me earn your business\". That was such a genuine ... and accountable offer that I was moved to select Precision. One never truly knows what the road not selected might hold, but I can say without any doubt that I cant imagine that it could have ever been as good as my initial experience. Rick coordinated everything from the first visit with insurance, to coordinating with the gutter work, to the final walk through and clean up. They showed up on time, did much better than I expected, found some damage that wasn't immediately obvious, obtained a supplemental, and finished on time. One could not really ask for more than that: A fair price and work that exceeded my expectations.\n\nAbout a year later we found a different home. The home inspection revealed some hail damage. Of course, I called Rick. Now my story is going to start sounding like I might be compensated for the review - I am not, in any way.\n\nThis claim was going to be a tad more challenging. The claim was with the current owner and his insurance company. It was clear that the owner was interested in as little out-of-pocket cost as possible, so I insisted on using Rick and Precision or the I wasn't going to buy the home. Rick accepted the challenge and explained to the owner that his goal was unreasonable, in fact illegal. Since three interests, each with a different goal were involved, it must have been a nightmare for Rick (but he never once said as much). The insurance company wanted to spend as little as possible, the owner wanted to send as little of his money as possible, and I wanted it done right. Needless to say, there was discussion after discussion ... after discussion to get it sorted out. In the end, I was AMAZED! The home is a million dollar house in a community of more expensive homes and I am confident in my belief that my roof is superior in finish and appearance to any other composite roof in the community. Rick's commitment to make it something that will bring me joy was ever-present. I felt as though he was treating it as his own home, and he wasn't satisfied until it exceeded my hopes.\n\nI hope not to need roofing work again anytime soon, but if I do, I will certainly call Rick Copeland and Precision Roofing.",

He accepted that I'd probably be going with someone with whom I'd already discussed the project. He asked for the opportunity to EARN my business.\n\nI am so glad that I said "OK". I have seldom felt so informed and cared for – and never in the field of construction. As we discussed options, Rick repeatedly helped me properly evaluate the various options and most importantly make a wise, cost effective choice.\n\nThe bottom line is that my roof is much improved, with level 4 shingles (insurance discount) that is much cooler in the summer. This was all done at a cost that was inline with my insurance appraisal.\n\nThe whole job was done in a (long) day and the cleanup made it look like they were never there.\n\nThe process was professional and effortless.\n\nCall them, you won't be disappointed.", "text": "It's been over a year and a half since I first met Brian Lemke from Precision Construction and Roofing and despite my wife's initial skepticism we now have a new Ludowici tile roof on our house. There is no way that I can thank Brian enough. Through a combination of your expertise, knowledge, and both of ours' persistence, we have managed to travel a complicated road together, and the end product is magnificent.\n\nYour initial visit spotted the hail damage to my 78 year old tile roof which occurred during a storm that passed over my neighborhood on May 8, 2014. You encouraged and assisted me in filing a claim with the company that had insured my house at that date. With the filing of the claim, Brian helped me navigate through two adjusters and an engineering company, ending up, eventually, with a settlement of $492,500 to replace the roof.\n\nThe local Ludowici rep helped us choose new tile, replacing the old Ludowici orange clay tile with a new color scheme that more closely matched our house's brick. The end product is now the showcase of our neighborhood.\n\nI have to comment on the crew that installed the roof. They were careful not to damage our yard, and were able to allow us to keep our existing steel gutters. I have to say that the crew was the hardest working group of workers I have every seen. In addition, their attention to detail was impressive – I would call them true craftsmen. They surpassed all of my expectations.\n\nAgain, I thank Brian for all his help and am fortunate that he initially identified my roof damage. I am not sure what led up to his initial visit, but he was like an angel who dropped down from the heavens and have greatly enriched my family. A great Win/Win experience.",

"text": "Hurricane Ida ravaged Southern Louisiana in August of 2021 and damaged beyond repair the terracotta tile roof on our home in New Orleans. The roof was an important architectural element of our historic home. We feared it might never be properly restored. We interviewed representatives from several local and national roofing contractors, all of whom claimed to have special expertise in tile roof replacements. But after consulting with Brian Lemke of Precision Construction & Roofing, followed by his detailed site inspection and loss report for our insurance carrier, we chose Precision (PCR) for this major undertaking. Our experience with PCR, as well as those of several other homeowners in the city whom I know personally, have been uniformly positive from start to timely completion. I wish I could say the same about our insurance underwriter, but that is another subject entirely.\n\nPCR's 50-year record of excellent performance nationwide has earned them a priority relationship with the prestigious Ludowici Roofing Company of Ohio. Last year was an extremely active storm season, one that overwhelmed suppliers and contractors alike. But with Brian Lemke's personal attention to detail and expedited throughput of job orders, we obtained historic French-style replacement tiles from Ludowici, the company that installed our original roof in 1907, in less than four months. The installation itself involved removal and complete replacement of 4,200 square feet of roof assembly (40,000 pounds each of old/new tiles, copper flashing, mortar, underlayment, etc., down to the wood decking) and was extremely labor intensive. PCR's crews only install terracotta and slate roofing and are highly efficient and courteous. Brian and his expert foremen personally supervised every phase of the work and addressed our every question or concern. PCR maintained an extremely clean, orderly worksite and protected our gardens, lawn, and home from damage. Final cleanup and inspection were flawless.\n\nI have only reviewed two other products/services online in the last ten years. Both previous reviews were equally detailed and objective, but both were negative, intended to warn others away. Assessing roofing contractors is difficult at any time, especially after a natural disaster like Ida. I hope visitors to this site find the above information forthright as well as informative. Honestly, I would award SIX STARS if possible to every phase of the work that Brian Lemke and PCR provided.",

The level of professionalism of the management and the guys doing the installation was superior, and with their long-time history of serving the Metroplex (30+ years), you know you're not getting some fly-by-night company.\n\nOur installation required a very strict timeline in order to sell the home, and Rick made it happen. In fact Rick was so far ahead of the game, we had to tell him to delay the start about a week until the insurance company could finally approve the cost estimate. Once it was approved to go, the roof was on in record time, even though there were very unique joints requiring hand-cutting of peak tiles and custom (and beautiful) copper flashing for the entire install. The crew was respectful and careful of the grounds and landscaping, and kept the work area clear and safe.\n\nOnce completed, Rick walked us through the insurance process, and gave sage advice on handling both the insurance company and the lender. I highly recommend Rick and Precision roofing for any specialty tile or slate installation, and be sure to involve him early for any insurance claim, as he can really help walk you through the process.\n\nAs a final note, our home's value was truly enhanced by Precision's installation, including an amazing copper awning over the front door of the home. The bids started coming in on Day 1 of the listing, and the next owners will really appreciate the warranty that Precision provided, as well as the 75-year Ludowici Tile warranty by having it installed properly.",
