Section 1: Council Verdict

Risk Level: MODERATE
Recommendation: NOT_RECOMMENDED

No summary available.

Section 2: Three Persona Analysis

Consumer Advocate N/A Confidence: N/A Reasoning: The contractor presents a strong public image with a 52-year BBB history, A+ rating, and 4.8 Google rating from 846 reviews. However, significant concerns emerge upon closer inspection. The company claims to be 'fully licensed and insured' but operates in	Fair Arbiter N/A Confidence: N/A Reasoning: The evidence presents a mixed but largely positive picture of a long-established business. The strongest positive signals are longevity (52 years per BBB, founded 1974), BBB A+ accreditation since 1985 with no complaints listed, and a high Google rating (4.8) with substantial review	Synthesizer N/A Reasoning: No dialectic audit data available. Stronger Case: N/A

Texas where most trades don't require licensing - this claim is unverifiable and potentially misleading. The BBB profile shows a Denver, CO address with a Colorado phone number (303 area code), while the business operates from Grand Prairie, TX. This suggests the BBB accreditation may belong to a different corporate entity or the business is using an out-of-state accreditation to bolster credibility. The review analysis shows authentic signals but also reveals serious complaint patterns: poor installation quality (windows separating from house, wrong window direction), property damage (gouges in home, damaged bushes), and unresponsive customer service on major defects. The Yelp rating of 3.6 with only 11 reviews contrasts sharply with the 4.8 Google rating, suggesting potential review manipulation or selective solicitation. The company operates across 10 states, which raises questions about quality control and local oversight. While no court records or liens were found, the specific volume (846). The charitable interpretation of red flags: 1) The negative Google review (1-star) describes specific installation issues and poor communication, but this represents a single detailed complaint among hundreds of positive reviews—consistent with occasional service failures in any large company. 2) The Yelp rating (3.6, 11 reviews) is lower but based on a tiny sample; Yelp's self-selected reviewer base often skews critical. 3) The BBB profile shows a Colorado address/phone, but the company operates in multiple states (10 states per website), suggesting a multi-state operation rather than misrepresentation. 4) No court records, liens, or regulatory actions were found across four counties and EPA/OSHA searches, indicating a clean legal history. 5) The review analysis flagged two same-day 5-star reviews as a minor anomaly but concluded reviews appear authentic overall. The company's website claims an 'A' BBB rating (actually A+), 45+ years in business, and complaints about installation failures and poor post-sale support are credible warning signs.

Key Concerns:

BBB accreditation appears to be for a Colorado entity (Denver address, 303 phone) while operating in Texas - potential misrepresentation, Specific, credible complaints about poor installation quality and unresponsive customer service for major defects, Claims of being 'fully licensed' in Texas where most trades don't require licensing - potentially misleading marketing, Significant discrepancy between Google (4.8/846 reviews) and Yelp (3.6/11 reviews) ratings, Multi-state operation across 10 states raises quality control concerns being fully licensed/insured. The absence on Angi/HomeAdvisor may reflect a business model not reliant on lead services. The data gaps (court search errors, no employee reviews) limit certainty, but the weight of evidence—longevity, high-volume positive reviews, BBB accreditation, and lack of legal issues—supports reasonable trust.

Positive Factors:

N/A

Points of Agreement

N/A

Points of Disagreement

N/A

Section 3: Red Flags

MEDIUM

BBB A+ accreditation is linked to a profile with a Denver, CO address and phone number, not the local Texas operation. This creates confusion and makes the rating's relevance to the local business unclear.

MEDIUM

Specific, detailed complaints in reviews cite major installation errors (windows installed wrong direction, separating from house), property damage (gouges in home), and unresponsive service on defects.

LOW

Website claim of being 'fully licensed' may be misleading in Texas, where most residential construction trades do not require a state license.

      "text": "We spent roughly $17000 on all new windows for our home last year. We noticed right away that the painted side of the windows were scratched up and the install was extremely poorly done. The sales person was actually a marketing guy and ordered all our windows to open the opposite direction from how we wanted them (same direction the original windows opened) but they did not care. They sent a different lady out to touch up the paint. When she arrived she also had to re-caulk EVERY window inside and out because it was not done properly, took her 2 days to fix it all. There was a comment made by another employee that the crew who did our install gets the least work because of the quality they produce. They also put 2 gouges in my home with their saw, one in the window sill and one in the side wall. Fast forward to earlier this year, we emailed the company to let them know one of our main windows in the living room was seperating from the house!!! This window is actually bulged out of the house compared to all the others which are slightly recessed. This has been more than 6 months ago and still not one single effort to contact us to get it corrected. That same window the screen will not even stay in it does not even fit the window. At this point I don't know what to do but this is not right. When I called in about all the original issues the VP (I believe he was) spoke to me like I was garbage, gum on the bottom of his shoe. I was so furious by the time I got off the phone, I have never been treated so poorly by someone that I just gave 17 grand too. My husband is a disabled veteran, this is our first home and he and I work very hard for every penny we have. We do not have money to throw away and we trusted this company to have principles and care about doing their best for their customers. Oh and the caulking they use inside is not cleanable it has to be painted.",

The sales and installation department communicted well about an added concern without putting me in the middle or complaining about each other. If you have had work done on your home you might know what I am talking about but they didn't and that is what I call professional. Now the installation crew was nothing short of amazing. The respect they showed to me and my property was fabulous. I mean they were friendly.They got to work with an attitude of getting it done with proficiency. They were pleasant and respectful with each other. They were organized and each crew member was busy with their own step. The way they worked was a joy to hear and watch. I even left for awhile and felt completely comfortable leaving to let them do their work.Jennifer was a delight taking a personal interest and setting me at ease with our conversation. This has been my best experience with installation projects and I am older. I have had many over my adulthood. ;) In less than 9 hours they fixed the wood frames, install 7 windows. Mine is an older house so there were obstacles which they handles with true craftsmanship. Even though they were losing daylight they had the equipment to work to completion. Ask for Terry's crew. They are the absolute best. Lulu was an added bonus. If you want to know about Lulu hire them ;) Oh, and when you file you taxes get your residential energy credit. If you need help with that contact me. I do taxes not windows..(shameless I know) Thanks Precision, Terry, Jennifer, Joe, Lulu and the rest of their crew.",

When we were planning this major project of 12 windows, life happened as it always does and we had to push off our project a couple of months. Precision was the only company that worked with me, saying I need a little bit of time, please text don't call. They did not text bomb me everyday either. When I responded they actually listened to my needs and provided exactly what I asked for and then even more with professionalism and courtesy during all aspects of the transaction.\n\nThe project mgr. did a great show and tell in our home and everything he promised happened and was timely!! The financing was explained well and was honest!! The installer came to double check measurements and look ahead for any unforeseen problems so the financial quote was right on!\n\nWhile we waited for our window production the office would touch base with us as we asked and answered any questions we had in a friendly manner. Installation day came with us prepped on what to expect and we felt very comfortable with the 3 man team in our home replacing the windows. From start time to finish rolling out the driveway with a yard and house cleaner than when they started was only 7 hours done and done very well for 12 windows!\n\nOur overall experience with Precision Siding and Construction Company was the BEST EXPERIENCE we have ever had with any home improvement company in our over 40 years of home ownership with over 20 houses as fixer uppers or rental properties.\n\nWe are completely satisfied and feel blessed to have awesome new windows with such ease of customer service, quality work, with quality workmanship!\n\nYou have got to try this place!!",

We collected a few different estimates, and Precision was not only able to offer us a fantastic price for a high-quality product but also excellent financing terms AND an expedited schedule. They showed up exactly when they said they would (end of November) and were done in two days with no mess left afterwards. They replaced the backing, bits of wood that were worn and rotted, the fascia, the siding, and even included the window frames (which the previous owners had ignored).\n\nOur house looks wonderful, and we can already feel the difference in temperature stability upstairs.\n\nWe only had one picture from before the work was done, and it was before the worst of the curling happened. HOT TIP (pun intended): cheap vinyl is not worth what you think you're saving, especially if it's a dark color. By the time the guys from Precision got there, we could see behind the vinyl in several places where the plastic rolled up like shriveled spaghetti.\n\nSO much happier now! He also recommended for 2 windows to be picture windows. Their windows do not have any lines or tic tac toe lines. The seal on these windows are excellent. Using a heat lamp he demonstrated on the window how heat from the sun would not penetrate to the inside of the windows. We also purchased two beautiful storm doors.\nWe got the windows installed and they are fabulous. There is no tint on the windows but it looks like they have a tint on them. The color is beautiful. We wanted to keep the company local so it was between this one and another one, but this company gave us the estimate first and \"sold\" us. And I did my research so the pricing was average. Sales guy was cool, but I get that's his job. We've had quite a few jobs done on our house, from roof replaced to windows to fencing and more. The contractors they sent out for this project were not the greatest experience. First, they called and said they can come earlier to get started. Normally that would be great news, but they were gonna start on a Saturday with a 100% chance of thunderstorms. They came and had their equipment on the driveway and after two hours, had to stop because of the thunderstorms. The guy didn't even ask if it was ok to start early, but stated they were coming early. So the equipment was on our driveway for several days and it was muddy from all the rain. On the last day they were to finish the project, they said they were gonna be done around 5pm (which would have worked great with my husband coming home from work) and ended up finishing early. It was around the time I had to pick up my kids from school so I felt rushed plus I had a baby with me. Then they had me do a walk through of their work which also felt rushed because I had to pick up my other child from the bus stop. Sure, they said no rush, but they were just there waiting. After the walk through, the guy had me do a survey or something in front of him. It was uncomfortable and I had a crying baby in the house. So when my husband came home from work, he did a walk through himself and the work was not very professional. He took photos and pointed things out to me and it was disappointing. We called precision and sent photos of the work. There were uneven cuts in the corners. They sent the same crew back to fix their work. It looks nice from afar, but as you walk closer, you could tell the project wasn't done with care. When it was all done, there were screws everywhere from their work. Like I said, we've had our roof replaced and they did a better job cleaning up than this crew. And if you know roofing, there's LOTS of nails.\n\nEdited to add: I wished they would've told us if we needed to do anything prior to them installing the siding, like removing our cameras. Because they messed up our flood light camera so it hasn't been working properly AND they cut the wire to our backyard camera so that one is no longer working.",

The safety features that the windows have are great for anyone with small kids and the overall look of the windows improve the outside of the house so much. The day that the windows were being installed, we were having high winds so the crew came back out the next day to finish up the outside to ensure it was all down correctly.\nWe highly recommend Precision to anyone who is needing new windows.
