Section 1: Council Verdict

72

Risk Level: MODERATE

Recommendation: NOT_RECOMMENDED

No summary available.

Section 2: Three Persona Analysis

Consumer Advocate N/A Confidence: N/A Reasoning: Southernwind Pools presents a mixed picture. The strongest positive signals are its 42-year operational history (BBB founding date 1983), active Texas franchise tax status, and a high volume of detailed, authentic-sounding positive reviews on Google (4.5/5 from 103 reviews) and Houzz	Fair Arbiter N/A Confidence: N/A Reasoning: Southernwind Pools presents a mixed but largely positive profile. The strongest positive signal is longevity: 42 years in business (founded 1983) with consistent operation. This suggests stability and survival through market cycles. The BBB A+ rating with no complaints listed indicates effective	Synthesizer N/A Reasoning: No dialectic audit data available. Stronger Case: N/A

(4.8/5). The BBB A+ rating with no listed complaints is also a positive, though it's important to note BBB ratings are not a direct measure of quality. The company appears to be a legitimate, established entity. However, significant concerns emerge from the review analysis. The contractor's own website and positive reviews claim high-quality, custom work and good communication. The evidence shows a stark discrepancy: Yelp reviews are significantly lower at 3.6/5, and the review analysis identified consistent, credible complaint patterns across platforms. These patterns include project delays, poor communication, unresponsiveness, and post-completion quality/warranty issues. The fact that these complaints are consistent and span years indicates these are not isolated incidents but systemic process failures. The review analysis concluded these negative reviews are authentic. Furthermore, the data is incomplete. Court record searches were blocked or inconclusive, and lien records could not be complaint resolution when issues arise. Google Maps shows 103 reviews with a 4.5 average, and Houzz shows 36 reviews with 4.8 average - substantial review volume across platforms. The REVIEW_ANALYSIS concluded reviews are overwhelmingly authentic with high confidence, noting detailed positive reviews mentioning specific staff (Clay, Adam, David) and project timelines. The charitable interpretation of red flags: 1) No Angi/HomeAdvisor presence could mean they don't pay for lead generation services, not that they're unreliable. 2) Yelp's 3.6 rating (30 reviews) vs higher elsewhere reflects Yelp's tendency to attract more critical reviews; the content shows consistent complaint patterns (delays, communication) but these are common in custom construction. 3) Court record searches showed no cases found in four counties, though some searches had technical issues. 4) Missing Facebook page could be intentional avoidance of social media drama. The business appears legitimate with retrieved due to a scraper error. The absence of negative legal findings is not proof of their absence. The company has no presence on Angi, HomeAdvisor shows only a single review page, and there is no Facebook page, which is unusual for a modern contractor. While Texas doesn't require a general contractor license, the lack of any verifiable licensing/insurance claims on the website is a gap. The worst reasonable interpretation is that this is a long-established company capable of excellent work but with inconsistent project management and customer service. A homeowner might get a beautiful pool delivered efficiently (as many reviews attest) or might endure significant delays, communication breakdowns, and warranty struggles (as other reviews attest). The risk is the variability of experience.

Key Concerns:

Credible, consistent patterns of complaints about project delays and poor communication across multiple review platforms over many

Texas franchise tax registration. The key is that negative reviews focus on process frustrations (delays, communication) rather than fundamental dishonesty or abandonment - common in construction but manageable. Multiple repeat customers (second pool builds) indicate satisfaction outweighs frustrations.

Positive Factors:

years., Significant rating discrepancy between Google/Houzz (4.5+/4.8) and Yelp (3.6), with Yelp reviews often containing more detailed critical feedback., Inability to verify the absence of lawsuits or liens due to technical errors in court/lien record searches., Lack of a modern digital footprint (no Facebook, minimal third-party platform presence) which can hinder complaint visibility and resolution.

Points of Agreement

N/A

Points of Disagreement

N/A

Section 3: Red Flags

MEDIUM Authentic, multi-year pattern of complaints about project delays and poor communication across review platforms.

MEDIUM Significant rating discrepancy between platforms (Google 4.5 vs. Yelp 3.6) with Yelp reviews containing detailed critical feedback on process issues.

LOW Inability to fully verify absence of lawsuits or liens due to technical errors in public record searches.

      "text": "We just finished our second pool build with Southernwind Pools, and once again, they exceeded our expectations! After moving out to the country, we weren't sure if they would take on our project, and we are so grateful they did.\n\nFrom start to finish, the entire process was incredibly smooth—honestly even more streamlined than our first build with them back in 2019. The process was professionally done from start to finish. The pool build was completed in under seven weeks, which was such a pleasant surprise.\n\nThe design phase with Clay was just as impressive. He truly listened to our wants and must-haves and turned them into a design that fits our family and our property perfectly. Never hesitated to make small changes (after we had time to overthink things) until it was perfect.\n\nJohn managed the project and did an outstanding job. His communication was clear, consistent, and timely, and he kept the scheduling of all the trades moving without a hitch.\n\nWe couldn't be happier with our experience and highly recommend Southernwind Pools to anyone considering a build—whether it's your first time or your second!",

Southernwind managed the project with the expertise you'd expect from a large, experienced company, but with the relationships you'd expect from a small, family-owned business. Our project designer, Clay Wager, did much more than design our project. He worked with us to create what we wanted and needed as a family. As first-time pool owners, he both listened and provided expert advice. Additionally, he was present for us throughout the entire project. When we noticed a chip in a tile, he was the one we called and quickly had it fixed under the outstanding warranty Southernwind provides. Any large construction project is going to have its glitches along the way, but I'm glad we had Clay to move the process along. Perhaps most importantly, we believe the project is now perfect. After using it for a summer, it was exactly what we wanted, and all our guests have been highly impressed with it. The project took a while to complete, but Southernwind completed our backyard within budget and with minimal inconvenience to our family. I would highly recommend Southernwind Pools to anyone looking to renovate their backyard.",

"text": "This is the second time we have used Southernwind to build a pool and we had a wonderful experience again! Southernwind focuses on building less pools than many of the pool builders in DFW, but each one of their pools is custom and high quality. This was one of our requirements for a builder. We worked with Clay on design and David was our project manager. Clay provided the unique design we were looking for to make our backyard stand out. Once the project was handed over to David he built the whole thing in 8 weeks from dig to plaster! One thing that really stands out to me is how well they communicate throughout each stage of the project. Communication was one of my main requirements and they exceeded my expectations. Overall I would highly recommend Southernwind for any pool project.", incredible attention to detail, top-notch craftsmanship, and a commitment to excellence that truly set them apart.\n\nNot only did they deliver exactly what we envisioned, but they also exceeded our expectations in every way. The quality of work, communication, and customer service were all exceptional. If you're looking for a reliable, talented, and professional pool company, look no further than Southern Wind Pool. He really listened to what was important to us and designed a pool that not only met—but exceeded—our expectations. Our backyard is absolutely stunning now!\nIf we ever move within the Dallas area, there's no question—we will 100% work with Adam and Southernwind Pools again. In fact, some of our neighbors also used Adam and Southernwind, and their backyard looks incredible too!\nAdam also connected us with fantastic landscaping contacts, and we couldn't be happier with the results. Charlie was our project manager and did a great job keeping everything on track. He was consistently checking in and always available to answer questions or explain details.\nBoth Adam and Charlie were professional, responsive, and a pleasure to work with. We truly couldn't have asked for a better experience or a more perfect pool. We love it!",

You can get a very basic pool from any of the big name companies around here, but my husband and I wanted something modern and unique. Our designer Clay Wager had an incredible eye for design and helped completely transform what we thought was possible in our yard. We do not plan to move, but if we ever did, there's no doubt in my mind we'd be calling up Clay and team to design any future pools/outdoor spaces.",

He definitely went above and beyond and had a very positive attitude throughout. He was able to find the perfect stone for the coping with the depth that we needed, which we originally thought we might not ever be able to find since the depth they were going to have to work with was less than what most stone is. He also found the most beautiful tiles for the spa and inside of the pool as well. Our remodel turned out better than we could have ever expected thanks to him and Southerwind Pools. I highly recommend him for any project you might have.",

Our designer, Rane presented us with a beautiful design which we made only minimal changes to. He is a great designer and very easy to work with. Rane is personable and was attentive to our needs. When he presented our new design, we could not believe it was our backyard! The end result came out exactly as presented and we are very happy with the creativity he brought throughout the design process!\n\nThe foreman for our project was JT. We can't say enough great things about this young man! He is an absolute joy to work with. JT was on top of everything and we were very happy with how he handled all the issues and steps that needed to be done. We did have a few issues with the subcontractors but overall had a good experience with everyone at Southernwind Pools. It did seem like a longer project but as long as you set your mind on a longer completion timeframe, you won't be as anxious to get it completed. There was some issues that arose throughout the duration but was expected, with a project of this size.

We highly recommend Southernwind Pools! No, the process won't be perfect but they are a company that delivers, with integrity and honest practices and at the end of the day, that's what really matters. We absolutely love our new outdoor living space!", "text": "I built a pool with Southernwind Pools in 2019. I really liked the design that Adam Johnson came up with to maximize the space in my small backyard. He's definitely an asset to their team. There were some construction/timing challenges that we worked through with John/Charlie and I was ultimately very happy with my pool and my new back yard.

In 2020, the coping starting to disintegrate due to some issues with their limestone supplier and Chad/Charlie replaced all of the coping around my pool and made it right - I really appreciated that.. it could have been a lot more of a headache.

In the years that they've serviced my pool since, their team has been great. I really like Larry and his service team. I've had a few issues and they've always been very responsive and their prices seem fair compared to some of their competitors. Jesse and the technicians that have been out to my property to conduct ongoing maintenance and filter cleans have been great too.

During the most recent freeze in Dallas, John, the owner, called me to tell me that the freeze guard on my system might not be on.. they were proactively checking systems that they service. Fortunately, the system was on and working well, but there was some trouble with the wifi connection. I really appreciated his phone call. It was above/beyond my expectations.",

Adam took the time to listen to our thoughts and was able to build upon them to bring to life the backyard oasis we were looking for and plan on enjoying for decades to come.

When Adam brought our vision to life via video we assumed he'd move on and hand it off to the Project Manager and he'd disappear. Nothing could be further from the truth. He was there weekly to see our vision come to life. That's what you get with Southernwind- a cohesive team approach to the build. We never felt like we weren't sure what the next steps were. Our build was completed on time and on budget.\n\nFrom the front desk, to the design, and to the build, Adam and Southernwind showed they have what it takes to make anyone's back yard dreams come true.",

"text": "We are under construction (3/21/18). Crews have been here working very hard on our project. From the design experience with Moses, to our project manager Ben, to our scheduler Angela, truly this has been a great experience thus far.\nAlmost every good weather day has been used and Angela communicates frequently who will be on-site and what they will be working on. The crews work diligently and it is evident that they take pride in their craft.\nSouthernwind has provided us with superior quality of products and superior people. We couldn't be happier to say that we've had such a great experience considering some of the nightmare stories we have heard from friends who happened to choose other companies. If you are looking for a pool builder, do your due diligence and research many as we did. We are so happy that we chose Southernwind Pools to be our builder and I think you will be happy, too.\nWe are in the home stretch and will post final photos once available.\nUPDATE 7/10/18\nTurned out great!! It was completed mid-May and as mentioned in previous review, everything with the build went very smoothly! We couldn't be happier!\nOur landscape architect is Ted Nichols with Focal Pointe Landscaping- he did an incredible job and it really finishes our build. It wouldn't be the same without the landscaping to complete it. Ted was great to work with and was able to give us great ideas as we weren't quite sure what would look best. Way better than we anticipated it would be!\n\nThe only blemish on an otherwise smooth build is the punch list (which was not long at all- just a few little things which we couldn't be happier about) after all said and done. It has taken them a little longer to wrap up a few details, but I attribute it to them being busy with other builds and only a set number of crews to take care of the minor details. Beyond that really minor issue we fully recommend Southernwind. Quality, craftsmanship, care, communication all throughout! We have loved every bit of the pool this summer and really had a great experience with everyone involved at Southernwind!",

But the process was not great. What was a originally promised to be a 1-2 month project took almost 5 months to complete. Communication was severely lacking - emails and phone calls would go days or weeks before being answered and then not even answer all of our questions prompting follow ups that again would take days or weeks to hear from them again.\n\nAgain, we love the work and are happy with the quality. He was precise with every detail and made sure we had the design exactly the way we wanted it from the beginning. When it came to installation, Ben was equally awesome with keeping track of all of the trades (and we had many because of all of the terrace work). If something wasn't right, it just took one call and Ben was on it. There were a few times when I'd see something that didn't look right and he'd make a special trip over to ensure mistakes weren't made. We even did an add on landscaping project with their sub contractor and the mix between the pool project and post pool landscape interfaced very well. Overall, the team was outstanding, the only challenge was in the transition to self maintenance and the availability of information about how the system operates. But again, Mike ensured we were satisfied all the way to the end.\n\nBig thanks to Southernwind Pool. We can't wait to enjoy our pool this summer.",

To call it a challenge is an understatement. The design was complex and the build was literally an up-hill climb. The professionals at Southernwind did NOT disappoint. John and crew delivered a five-star pool and spa with infinity edges, water wall, state of the art systems and knock-out water features. The flaming water pots define the experience at night. Travertine decking for the patio and lower sun deck. While the pool/spa is insane, the post-production service is white glove. Our initial experience was promising—our designer truly listened, visited our property, and delivered an incredible vision for what felt like a dream backyard oasis. Unfortunately, that designer left the company shortly after, and from there, the experience went downhill fast.\n\nWhat was supposed to be a premium project (we spared no expense) turned into a frustrating, drawn-out ordeal. The execution dragged on for nearly two years, and even now—two years after what they called “completion”—we are still dealing with unresolved issues. Despite providing a written checklist multiple times, as outlined in the contract, SW Pools has failed to deliver on key fixes.\n\nWe have stones that are crumbling or falling off the structure, unresolved drainage issues, and other glaring problems that were never addressed. Communication has been inconsistent at best, and promises made by John Versfelt have repeatedly gone unfulfilled.\n\nIf you’re considering SW Pools for your backyard investment, we strongly encourage you to look elsewhere. In 2017, we reached out to Southernwind Pool, among four other reputable companies in DFW, and in 2022, we decided to move forward with installing a pool. As first-time pool owners, we were initially overwhelmed, but Moses, the designer, put us at ease. Despite our sloped backyard, Moses did an excellent job with the design.\n\nLike any construction project, there were challenges, but Southernwind promptly and professionally resolved them. Building a pool is like building a house; delays due to materials, labor, and weather are inevitable and part of the process. It's normal to have moments where you wish you had done things differently. One aspect we regretted was not adding more lights, so it's advisable to discuss lighting options with your designer based on your pool's size. Apart from that, we are thrilled with our pool. Even after completion, we had numerous questions, and Greg kindly came over to explain the systems to us.\n\nDuring a recent winter storm, our pool had a 2-inch sheet of ice on top. We contacted Southernwind Pool for guidance, and Greg promptly called back to advise us on what to check and reassured us. Working with Southernwind has been a pleasant experience.",

"text": "I highly recommend Southernwind Pools and will do so until I am no longer able to speak or write!!! I started off by looking at several different companies and moved forward with 3 different designers. The initial process was very trying for me because I have little free time due to hectic work and family schedules. Ultimately, I chose to work with Mike Calonne at Southernwind because he went way above and beyond the rest: 1) he bent over backwards to accommodate my crazy schedule during the planning and construction phases, 2) listened to my needs and wants and produced a breathtaking design that will entertain my kids and my friends for many years to come, 3) made valuable recommendations to provide the energy efficient and low maintenance solutions I was seeking, and 4) educated me on some pitfalls I would want to avoid no matter who I chose to build my pool.\n\nImagine my delight when the rest of the team was just as helpful, friendly, professional, and accommodating! They took care of absolutely everything and made sure my efforts on the project were minimal – just what I told them I needed. And, despite a very crazy rainy season last fall/winter, they finished on schedule! I continue to be super-pleased with the attention and follow-up I receive from Mike Eastes, their Project Manager, and his team (he even sent me pictures and videos of my project since I was always stuck at work and he didn't want me to miss out on all of the excitement) and from their Service Manager, Jon Paul Stalnaker, and his team who are all very personable, responsive, and efficient. Even the President of the company, John Versfelt, checks in to make sure we're happy – truly exceptional customer service and quality!!! My pool is spectacular and stunning, we live in our spa, and we can't wait to take our first swim next weekend!!!",

"text": "You may read this review elsewhere. I've posted it at a number of sites because I really want to acknowledge the exceptional work done by Mark Robinson and his crews from Southernwind Pools. Southernwind was recommended to me by USI Remodeling, a company who has handled a couple of major interior jobs for us over the last dozen years. I have a lot of trust in USI, and wanted to use a company that I could similarly trust for our pool renovation, and Southernwind did not disappoint.\n\nThe project was a complete renovation of a pool about 40 years old. The only original component that wasn't removed/replaced was the gunite shell. Sundeck was replaced with travertine pavers –beautiful! And the replaster looks great. Pool equipment is all integrated and tied into the wireless network –works as advertised.\n\nMark works long hours to stay on top of his jobs, and is very accessible. He was very good at identifying issues that needed to be addressed along the way to make sure that the job was done right, and there were no expenditures that we were not made aware of ahead of time. Mark was quick to respond to texts and emails and is just a “good dude”. \n\nSo I would heartily recommend Southernwind. They will not be your lowest bid, but you get what you pay for. I had a “budget” re-tile/re-plaster done years ago and that did not turn out well (especially the re-plaster –inferior bonding agent used between gunite and plaster). If you are interested in quality work carefully overseen

Southernwind Pools is among the best in terms of customer service, attention to detail and customer satisfaction. From their sales staff, to the construction supervisor to the owner, they are experts at what they do and put a high degree of importance on delivering a quality product to a satisfied customer when all is said and done.   "text": "We chose Southernwind Pools for our extensive remodel this month. Received quotes from 4 different local companies and were most impressed with the service of SWP. Mark was our contact through the remodel and he really sealed the deal for us. He was extremely responsive to our questions and concerns both before contract and through the build process...until things started to go wrong, and then we were told to \"call the office\". We were having our pool remodeled with the funding from an insurance claim, so we were very clear about needing a specific and all-inclusive quote with no surprises. Lo and behold, after receiving our settlement check, we get hit with all the nickel and dime things. Things that should have been included to begin with so that we could have included them in the claim. Examples: light replacement, start up chemicals and brushing, stone seal, new spa button, etc. Their stone guys did an amazing job, but then the power washing team ruined several areas blasting holes in the sides of the spa and leaving ugly lines along the coping where they got too close. We were told this would be handled...yet here we still sit. The PebbleTec contractors left several uncovered white spots in the pool, they said they'd send divers to repair...still no word. Also, beware of their \"start up service\". They skip days, misuse chemicals, and abruptly quit without telling you they're done. Just handle start up yourself or hire another company for the same fee. They never cleaned up the site and have completely left us hanging. There are far too many options in the market to deal with this sort of nonsense. Once they rec'd our 2nd check on plaster day, we were dead to them.", Therefore, if you only have the space for a small pool or a smaller budget, do know that this company will not do any smaller projects. They will also charge a $500 fee for "designing" your pool. If you decide to move forward, it'll go towards the total cost. But if you have to hold off on it, then you'll lose it. The design fee seems higher than other competitors.",

It was challenging through the entire process with the water feature stone falling forward into the pool. They finally brought in someone more experienced. The job was not supervised at all. I paid them in full and when my pool maintenance guy told me they should have put my equipment on a block and not directly on the ground they said they would be back. Never got done. I sent them pictures of my equipment sinking and will get worse. Now they say I did not contract for this and it will cost 1000.00 to fix it. Really. I DID not contract for the equipment to be installed properly. Tired of contractors that take the money and send people not trained. They are not responding to my request for a written response explaining in writing why I did not contract to have my equipment installed properly. I will keep on this with whoever will listen\n\nUpdate. 2 years later had to put another pool motor! The tech said he could not see any identification on the motor and suspected I was given a used one.",

  "discrepancy_explanation": "Google/Houzz ratings (4.5/4.8) are significantly higher than Yelp (3.6). This is a common pattern where Yelp attracts more critical reviews and Google is more curated by the business. The BBB A+ rating indicates good complaint handling but doesn't reflect service quality directly."
