regulatory complaints were found in the searched jurisdictions. The business is a registered LLC in Texas. However, significant concerns exist. The Glassdoor employee review titled 'Terrible experience - Super Intendent' and Indeed's 3.5 overall employee rating suggest internal management or operational issues that could impact customer projects. The review analysis flagged a clear pattern of customer complaints regarding 'communication delays', 'project management issues', 'post-completion leaks/repairs', and 'missed deadlines'. A recent 1-star Google review details a 'nightmare' experience with chronic communication failures, ghosting, and incomplete work on a spa project, which aligns with the identified complaint patterns. The absence of a verifiable 'years in business' claim and the lack of any licensing/insurance verification (common in Texas) are data gaps. The worst reasonable interpretation is that this is a company capable of specific employees (Josh, Michael, Amberly, Beth, Travis), describe the construction process in detail, and highlight good communication and quality work. The BBB A+ rating with zero listed complaints is a significant positive signal, indicating either excellent customer resolution or a lack of formal complaints. The business is a registered LLC in Texas (SPLASH PAD POOL BUILDER, LLC), confirming legal standing. Searches across four major county court systems (Dallas, Denton, Collin, Tarrant) and for liens returned no records of lawsuits or liens, a strong indicator of financial and operational stability. The negative signals have charitable interpretations: The 1-star Google review from 'Marjorie Lowery' details project management and communication failures on a spa project, which, while concerning, is a single data point against over 150 positive ones and reflects a common challenge in complex residential construction. The Glassdoor employee reviews (3.2 average, with one titled 'Terrible experience') are from a different stakeholder good work but with inconsistent project management and post-completion support, leading to a significant risk of a stressful, delayed, or problematic experience for a subset of customers.

Key Concerns:

Pattern of customer complaints about communication, project management, and post-completion issues (per review analysis)., Negative employee feedback on Glassdoor/Indeed suggesting potential internal operational problems., Recent, detailed 1-star review describing a 'nightmare' experience with ghosting and incomplete work., Inability to verify key business claims (years in business, specific licenses/insurance) due to data gaps.

group (employees vs. customers) and their concerns about management or pay do not directly translate to customer service quality. The lack of data on years in business, while a gap, does not itself indicate unreliability; a newer business can still be competent. The review analysis concluded the reviews are overwhelmingly authentic with no evidence of manipulation. The pattern of complaints identified (communication delays, project management issues) is real but typical for the industry and is balanced by the volume of resolved, happy customers.

Section 3: Red Flags

Professional review analysis identified a clear, credible pattern of customer complaints regarding 'communication delays', 'project management issues', 'post-completion leaks/repairs', and 'missed deadlines'.

MEDIUM

A recent, detailed 1-star Google review describes a 'nightmare' experience with chronic lack of communication, ghosting, disruptive partial work, and an incomplete spa project, validating the complaint pattern.

LOW

Mixed to negative employee reviews on Glassdoor (one titled 'Terrible experience - Super Intendent') and Indeed (3.5 overall) suggest potential internal management or operational issues.

Getting this seemingly simple project over the finish line was an arduous struggle with constant project management issues that discredited the words that came out of the project manager's mouth, so buyers beware. The chronic lack of communication, infuriating unresponsiveness, disruptive pop-up visits to perform partial work, and outright \"ghosting\" when we were told to expect a visit are not just concerning – they indicate a deeply flawed operation. This experience was nothing short of a nightmare. I strongly and unequivocally encourage anyone considering a pool or spa

The completion of the pool construction has been delayed by more than a month, and there have been several issues with plumbing leaks and turf installation that have caused significant damage that need repair.\n\nThe builder has repeatedly failed to meet deadlines and communicate effectively, leaving me feeling frustrated and anxious about the progress and quality of the work. The lack of attention to detail and professionalism demonstrated by the builders contractors has been nothing short of unacceptable.\n\nAdditionally, the installation of the turf was poorly executed and caved in within days of completion, requiring further repairs and delays.\n\nOverall, my experience with Splash Pad has been disappointing and frustrating, and I would strongly advise against using their services. Why, because I would no longer work with them on a daily basis. :-( Yes I know they will always be around if I have any issues, they have assured me of that, but not talking to them daily is different.\n\nBuilding a pool is ALOT! More than anyone can imagine and if you are an emotional person like myself, its ALOT ALOT. I chose to go with Splash Pad because of Michael my sales rep. He was very patient with me and took his time to explain the process. I then moved on to Beth and Travis aka The Dream TEAM! These two, I don't think the company knows how awesome they are. Beth and Travis let me know what all was involved and how the process would work step by step. Any questions or issues I had they were on it. I had a few melt downs, I mean seeing your back yard go through the different transformations is big and I had a few hiccups along the way, but Beth and Travis were troopers. Dealing with all my melt downs and temper tantrums, if I were them I could not have dealt with me but they did with so much courtesy and grace. They assured me I would love the end result.\n\nThey were right! I LOVE LOVE LOVE my pool. I'm so happy with it. I stare at it multiple times a day and cant believe this is now my backyard. I no longer want to leave my house! I knew Travis cared when I would look out my window and see him with no shoes on to avoid walking on my decking , or on his hands and knees fixing stuff. This man really goes out of his way to assure you are satisfied. Shout out to Amberly for her pool school. She is the sweetest. You can tell she loves her job and has no problem teaching you how to care for your pool. She makes you feel comfortable asking her any question at all and I needed that because I had a lot...I am so glad I chose this company to build my dream pool.\n\nBeth and Travis, I cannot tell you two enough how blessed I am to have worked with you. I would do it all over again if I could. I HIGHLY recommend this company.", Tucker took our wishlist and came up with a terrific design, Jordan kept everything on schedule, and Tanner did a wonderful job managing the project. We had our first consult with them on July 6 and were swimming before the end of September. The subcontractors they used were top notch and the detail to our stonework and salt finish concrete is one of a kind. Communication was top notch and any questions we had were always addressed by the end of the day. During the process, Tanner was there daily to check on things.\nWe got 4 quotes and Splash Pad's pricing was competitive. Having never built a pool before, it is easy to get overwhelmed with all of the available builders and options, not to mention horror stories that people share when you mention just the idea of adding an outdoor oasis. We received several quotes from pool builders near and far but ultimately chose SPPB. Chris truly listened to what we were looking for and provided a beautiful design that checked off all of the boxes on our wish list, including some ideas we had not even thought of! After signing the contract, it was time for the build process to begin. My husband and I both wondered how the rest of the team could possibly meet the same customer service standards that Chris had provided us, but little did we know that it would get even better!!!\n\nI really don't know if there are enough words to express my sincere gratitude and appreciation for Kristen and Red, our Operations Coordinator and Site Supervisor. From start to finish, their response times, work ethic, professionalism, attentiveness and friendliness were and still are second-to-none. They went above and beyond to make sure everything was perfect. Every step along the way was either on-time or ahead of schedule. There was never a point in time where we didn't know exactly what was going on with the process and what would be happening in the coming days. The contractors were all courteous, highly-skilled and professional. They were always there right on time and never left a mess at the end of the day.\n\nI can honestly say that I'm going to miss seeing these guys and working with them each week. With that being said, I haven't even mentioned the part that most people probably want to see in reviews – the time it took to build. Dig day – August 24th, Fill day – September 22nd. 29 DAYS, Y'ALL!!!! 29 DAYS!!!!!!\n\nOur pool looks absolutely beautiful and is better than I could have ever imagined. We have already recommended SPPB to several friends and will continue doing so without hesitation. This entire experience was nothing short of spectacular. Building a pool is a big decision and if you're in the market, you should always do your research; however, I am confident that you will not find a better company than Splash Pad Pool Builder.\n\nSPPB – Huge, HUGE thanks to you guys and all of the incredible work that y'all do. We interviewed many builders and what set Splash Pad Pool Builder aside from the rest was the fact that they do EVERYTHING! They not only build the pool, but they do the re-sodding, irrigation, etc. all included in the cost of the pool which was lower than all the rest who didn't provide the additional services. Splash Pad Pool Builder were willing to deal with our, difficult to access, backyard where other pool builders turned us down. Another plus is they provide a port-a-potty on site for their workers. The guys were so patient with us and our many many questions and always answered our calls and texts quickly. We developed such a great trust/relationship with Chris, Slade and Mick and can't say enough good things about them. Not to mention, Splash Pad Pool Builder finished our pool so fast!
